ANNUAL REPORT
OF THE
CHIEF OF THE MILITIA BUREAU.

---

WAR DEPARTMENT,
MILITIA BUREAU,
Washington, D. C., June 30, 1919.

SIR: Herewith is the seventeenth annual report of the Chief, Militia Bureau, War Department, covering the operation of this bureau from July 1, 1918, to June 30, 1919.

GENERAL REMARKS.

During the fiscal year 1918, the Militia Bureau was charged, in addition to its usual duties with the National Guard not in Federal service, with matters pertaining to the United States Guards of the United States Army, and with the matters pertaining to strictly State forces or Home Guards, equipped under Special Regulations 37. This report, therefore, naturally resolves itself into four parts:

Part I, pertaining to the National Guard.

Part II, pertaining to the United States Guards of the United States Army.

Part III, pertaining to State forces, Home Guards, etc.

Part IV, personnel of Militia Bureau—Appendixes.

The details of the relations of the Militia Bureau to each of these forces will be found under its appropriate designation. The National Guard, recognized as such previous to August 5, 1917, was absorbed into the United States Army during this entire period, and the National Guard was at its lowest ebb during the period covered by this report. A few organizations failed to qualify as National Guard in time to be inducted into Federal service August 5, 1917. The operation of the selective draft law, however, interfered so seriously with the retention of the personnel of the National Guard organizations, particularly after the draft age was extended to 45, that it was almost an impossible task to retain in the States a National Guard under the act of June 3, 1916. As soon as the armistice was declared, November 11, 1918, schemes for demobilization were at once put into effect. A spirit of unrest pervaded the country, and it was evident that there was a great need for an organized force in many of the States during the transition period from a state of war to one of peace. The Militia Bureau, realizing this need, made every effort to encourage the organization of National Guard units between the dates of November 11, 1918, and June 30, 1919. Because of the limited amount of money available for the purchase of equipment, and in order to meet an emergency by securing a great number of small armed forces located throughout the States, the strength for Federal recognition was reduced, but this reduction did not secure organizations of the National Guard as rapidly as expected, the strength on June 30, 1919, being 1,198 officers and 36,012 men. The failure of the appropriation bill to pass the Sixty-fifth Congress further hampered the development of National Guard units, because it created doubts as to the future military policy, and the amount of money available for the purchase of equipment was limited to the unexpended balance for the fiscal year 1919. The appropriation for that year was based upon the supposition that the National Guard would be at its minimum strength. No additional funds were available for the development of the National Guard until July 11, 1919.

The details of the organization of the National Guard since July 1, 1919, will be furnished in the next annual report, as this report terminates with the date of June 30, 1919.

During the period covered by this report, efforts were concentrated upon a revision and compilation of National Guard Regulations issued under the act of June 3, 1916, from time to time as problems arose. This work was virtually ready for the printer by June 30, 1919.

In order to provide suitable sergeant-instructors for the National Guard, this bureau on May 14, 1919, initiated a movement to establish a school of instruction at the Infantry School at Camp Benning, Ga., for specially selected men; under date of June 11, 1919, an order was issued directing the establishment of this school with an attendance of 150 students to pursue a basic course of instruction for two months and a post-graduate course for six weeks.

This school is now in operation. Those students who graduate will be available for duty with the National Guard as their services are needed. This is the first contingent of the 1,000 sergeant-instructors authorized for this work by section 36, act of June 3, 1916. It is contemplated that additional classes will be instructed as the demands increase.

It is contemplated to throw open to the members of the National Guard, who are fitted to pursue the courses taught, as many of the service schools as possible. Attendance will depend upon fitness of applicant and amount of funds appropriated by Congress to defray the expenses of the members of the National Guard who are selected for attendance at service schools.

The reports of officers in charge, Militia Affairs, will be found in Appendix A.

The United States Guards of the United States Army continued to develop until the date of the armistice, attaining a strength of 48 battalions, 1,194 officers, and 25,068 enlisted men. Shortly after the armistice the control of the United States Guards was, by order, turned over to the department commanders in whose department the United States Guards were serving. The demobilization of this force was ordered on November 29. The records were kept in this bureau until March 17, 1919, at which time the records pertaining to the United States Guards were turned over to The Adjutant General's Office, where they are at the present time.

By order of the Secretary of War, on February 14, 1919, this bureau was charged with the supervision of matters pertaining to strictly State forces or home guard, equipped under Special Regulations 37, while the issues of material were actually made by the Ordnance Department. As nearly as can be determined, there were 78,008 rifles issued for use of home guards to June 30, 1919. Some States procured equipment by purchases from State funds. No record is available as to the amount of equipment thus procured.

The reports received from individual States concerning State forces give the organizations, but unfortunately not the strength of each. It is estimated that the State forces furnished equipment from Federal funds did not exceed 79,000 men.

PART I.—THE NATIONAL GUARD.

ORGANIZATION.

During the continuation of the World War all of the energies of the Federal Government were devoted to its successful prosecution. The National Guard had been drafted into Federal service, and incorporated into the United States Army, where it performed its duty with great fidelity and with marked credit.

There arose, however, in the course of the war a certain demand for the use of troops by the States for local protection and for the maintenance of law and order. In the majority of the States this demand was met by the organization of State troops or home guards, which were not National Guard as contemplated by the national defense act. This class of troops was equipped under the provisions of the act of Congress of June 14, 1917, which authorized the issue of certain arms and equipment. In several of the States the authorities thereof presented strong arguments for the organization and recognition of regular units of National Guard, particularly setting forth the advantages accruing from the use of this class of troops for the maintenance of law and order, and their utility for State purposes. Inasmuch as the organization of National Guard units in certain sections of the country would provide the necessary local protection of industry, serve as a preventive of lawlessness, and would release United States troops for service overseas, as well as provide a force for service along the Mexican border, the Federal Government authorized the organization of certain National Guard units particularly designed for the above purposes. The Federal Government, however, authorized the organization of these National Guard units with the clear understanding that they were not formed for the purpose of service in the United States Army overseas, but for local protection within the borders of States in which they were organized or for protection of the Federal borders should such an emergency arise.

The War Department consented to the organization of two brigades of National Guard Cavalry in the State of Texas, in view of their utility as a relief for United States Cavalry stationed on the border, when the conditions of warfare overseas rendered it probable that Cavalry would be required in large numbers for the open warfare then in prospect.

Upon the signing of the armistice on November 11, 1918, the following National Guard units had been recognized by the Federal Government:

- Arkansas, 1 regiment Infantry, 1 battalion Engineers.
- Colorado, 1 regiment Infantry, 1 troop Cavalry.
- District of Columbia, 1 company Infantry.
- Hawaii, 2 companies Infantry.
- Indiana, 1 regiment Field Artillery.<sup>1</sup>
- Iowa, 5 companies Infantry.

<sup>1</sup> Disbanded on Apr. 16, 1919.

Maine, 1 regiment Infantry.
 Missouri, 1 regiment Infantry.
 New Jersey, 2 companies Coast Artillery <sup>1</sup>, 1 regiment Field Artillery.<sup>2</sup>
 Oklahoma, 2 regiments Infantry.
 Tennessee, 1 regiment Infantry.
 Texas, 1 Infantry brigade, 3 regiments Infantry, 2 Cavalry brigades, 6 regiments Cavalry.
 Virginia, 1 machine gun company, Infantry.
 Washington, 1 regiment Infantry.

Shortly after the termination of hostilities, the return of large numbers of troops from overseas, as well as the pending restoration to normal conditions in the United States, rendered it desirable to suspend the organization of National Guard units until a definite military policy could be established by Congress and the necessary funds appropriated for the maintenance of the National Guard.

However, as certain States called for National Guard units to replace State and home guards whose existence terminated with the emergency, and as there was available approximately $2,000,000 of the National Guard appropriations for the fiscal year 1919, it was decided during the spring of 1919 to authorize National Guard units as far as this appropriation would permit. Units allocated under this project were assigned to the States where it seemed probable there would be a call for National Guard troops to maintain law and order. In view of the limited time available for recruitment and organization, these particular units were authorized at a strength of 65 men for each company and the units authorized were either of Infantry, Cavalry, or Coast Artillery. The authorization of companies at a strength of 65 enlisted men was limited to units organized and recognized prior to June 30, 1919.

On June 30, 1919, the date to which this report extends, the following National Guard units had been recognized by the Federal Government in addition to those in existence on November 11, 1918:

INFANTRY.

The National Guard organized and accepted by the United States under the act of June 3, 1916, prior to August 5, 1917, having been drafted into Federal service, thereby losing their State identity, it was held that additional National Guard units should be organized on the basis of strength prescribed in section 62 of the act as for the first year of operation of the law—and in accordance with the minimum strength authorized in Circular No. 31, Militia Bureau, 1916, and General Orders No. 50, The Adjutant General's Office, 1916. This rule held during the fiscal year 1919; rifle companies of Infantry were authorized at a minimum strength of 100.

The following lists show the recognized units of the National Guard in existence on July 1, 1918, and subsequent additions.

On application of the States named below authority has been given to organize additional Infantry units as shown; this authority continues in force:

 Florida, 1 battalion.
 Idaho, 5 companies.
 Missouri, 1 regiment (less 1 company recognized).
 Montana, 1 battalion.

 Oklahoma, 2 companies separate battalion.
 South Carolina, 1 separate battalion.
 Vermont, 3 companies separate battalion.
 Virginia, 3 companies, first battalion, second battalion.

CAVALRY.

During the period from July 1, 1918, to June 30, 1919, the following new Cavalry units have been organized:

Colorado, 1 troop.
 New York, 2 troops.
 Utah, 2 troops.
 Texas, First Cavalry Brigade, headquarters, Second Texas Cavalry, Third Texas Cavalry, Seventh Texas Cavalry; Second Cavalry Brigade, headquarters, Fourth Texas Cavalry, Fifth Texas Cavalry, Sixth Texas Cavalry.

The above organizations, together with one troop in the Territory of Hawaii, constituted the total Cavalry in existence throughout the year. Of these, the following were disbanded during the year:

1 separate troop, Territory of Hawaii.
 I Troop, Third Texas Cavalry.
 L Troop, Seventh Texas Cavalry.

It will be seen from the above list that the bulk of the Cavalry was in the State of Texas.

An important feature prior to the signing of the armistice was the establishment of schools in Texas for National Guard Cavalry of that State. The saddlers' school at the Remount Depot, Fort Bliss, Tex., graduated 46 saddlers. The horseshoers' school established at the Remount Station, Camp Logan, Tex., qualified 23 horseshoers, and the one established at the Auxiliary Remount Station, Camp Bowie, Tex., qualified 14 horseshoers. The school for bakers and cooks, Fort Sam Houston, Tex., qualified 11 mess sergeants, 16 first cooks, and 16 second cooks.

The school for the Cavalry officers, Texas National Guard, was established at central Cavalry training school, Camp Stanley, Tex. The subjects taken up at that school were: Cavalry drill regulations, theoretical and practical; manual interior guard duty; signaling; saber exercise; manual of military courts-martial; field service regulations and minor tactics; small-arms firing regulations; physical training; administration; hippology; sketching; map reading; military hygiene; field fortifications; and rules of land warfare. At this school 28 officers were graduated.

FIELD ARTILLERY.

During the year ending June 30, 1919, none of the Field Artillery of the National Guard was equipped and armed, and at no time could it be relied upon as an effective force. This was due in part to lack of proper equipment and matériel and also to the impracticability of furnishing competent instructors.

The following table shows the organizations of Field Artillery in existence during the period July 1, 1918, to June 30, 1919:

State.	Unit.	Recognition extended.	Disbanded.
Colorado.....	1 battery.....	Feb. 5, 1919	.....
Indiana.....	1 regiment.....	Jan. 10, 1918	Apr. 16, 1919
Iowa.....	1 battery.....	May 2, 1918	Nov. 5, 1918
New Jersey.....	1 regiment.....	Oct. 26, 1917	Apr. 28, 1919

COAST ARTILLERY.

Since July 1, 1918, the following new companies of Coast Artillery have been recognized: New York, one company on June 27, 1919. The following have been disbanded during same period: Florida, one company on September 9, 1918; New Jersey, two companies on March 27, 1919.

On June 30, 1919, the one company in New York was the only organization of National Guard Coast Artillery in the United States; at that time it had not been armed and equipped.

ENGINEERS.

On June 30, 1918, the only engineer organization in the National Guard consisted of the First Battalion of Arkansas Engineers, recognized May 17, 1918, all previously existing National Guard Engineer units having been drafted into Federal service on or before August 5, 1917.

During the period for which this report is submitted no new National Guard Engineer units were organized or recognized.

On June 30, 1919, plans were being perfected for the reorganization of the National Guard, calling for the organization during the fiscal year 1920 of the following Engineer units: One regiment, 10 separate battalions, 11 separate companies, and 8 Engineer trains. It is believed that the organization of these Engineer units will proceed satisfactorily, due to the many men recently demobilized from Engineer units with war records.

SIGNAL CORPS.

During the fiscal year July 1, 1918, to June 30, 1919, Federal recognition was extended to but one organization of Signal Corps, viz, Company C, Signal Corps, Denver, Colo. On June 30, 1919, this was the only recognized organization of Signal Corps in the National Guard.

On recommendation of the commanding general, Hawaiian department, Federal recognition was withdrawn from Company B, Signal Corps, Hawaii, and this organization was disbanded October 11, 1918.

SANITARY TROOPS.

During the period covered by this report no new National Guard field hospitals or ambulance companies have been organized or recognized.

On June 30, 1919, sanitary detachments had been recognized during the preceding year for the following National Guard units:

Colorado, 1 regiment Infantry.
Iowa, 1 regiment Infantry.
Minnesota, 3 regiments Infantry.
Missouri, 1 regiment Infantry.
Oklahoma, 2 regiments Infantry.
Texas, 1 brigade Infantry, 2 brigades Cavalry.
Washington, 1 regiment Infantry.

The allotment of National Guard units to the various States, Territories, and the District of Columbia for the fiscal year 1920 contemplates the organization of two complete sanitary trains, one for each of the States of New York and Pennsylvania, and of 26 field hospitals and 25 ambulance companies distributed among the other States.

The National Guard furnished at the time of the draft (August 5, 1917), 1,462 medical officers, 298 dental officers, 98 veterinarians, 47 ambulance companies, and 59 field hospitals, with a total personnel of 520 officers and 10,506 enlisted men, in addition to furnishing 972 medical officers and 6,119 enlisted men as members of the sanitary detachments of the line organizations.

During the war National Guard medical officers performed creditably the important duties of division surgeons, division sanitary inspectors, directors of field hospitals and ambulance companies, operated advance and main dressing stations, and controlled the evacuation of thousands of wounded.

The National Guard furnished for Federal service 18 divisions, which were self-sustaining as far as their medical service was concerned, with the exception of 12 medical officers of the Regular Army assigned at the time of the draft as division surgeons to divisions made up of troops from those States not having a complete divisional organization.

MACHINE-GUN UNITS.

During the year the number of National Guard machine-gun units was as follows:

1 machine-gun company, Fourth Infantry, Arkansas, Little Rock, Ark.
1 machine gun company, Third Infantry, Colorado, Westcliffe, Colo.
1 machine-gun company, Fourth Infantry, Kansas, Lawrence, Kans.
1 machine-gun company, Third Infantry, Maine, Livermore Falls, Me.
1 machine gun company, Fourth Infantry, Minnesota, Minneapolis, Minn.
1 machine gun company, Fifth Infantry, Minnesota, Mankato, Minn.
1 machine gun company, Sixth Infantry, Minnesota, Sauk Center, Minn.
1 machine-gun company, Seventh Infantry, Missouri, Kansas City, Mo.
1 machine-gun company, Sixth Infantry, New Jersey, Newark, N. J.

1 machine-gun company, Second Infantry, Oklahoma, Oklahoma City, Okla.
 1 machine-gun company, Third Infantry, Oklahoma, Ardmore, Okla.
 1 machine-gun company, Fourth Infantry, Tennessee, Knoxville, Tenn.
 1 machine-gun company, Eighth Infantry, Texas, Houston, Tex.
 1 machine-gun company, Ninth Infantry, Texas, San Antonio, Tex.
 1 machine-gun company, Tenth Infantry, Texas, Paris, Tex.
 1 machine-gun troop, Second Cavalry, Texas, Hallettsville, Tex.
 1 machine-gun troop, Third Cavalry, Texas, Austin, Tex.
 1 machine-gun troop, Fourth Cavalry, Texas, Bowie, Tex.
 1 machine-gun troop, Fifth Cavalry, Texas, Dallas, Tex.
 1 machine-gun troop, Sixth Cavalry, Texas, Texarkana, Tex.
 1 machine-gun troop, Seventh Cavalry, Texas, Beaumont, Tex.
 1 machine-gun company, Infantry, Virginia, Richmond, Va.
 1 machine-gun company, Third Infantry, Washington, Ellensburg, Wash.
 A total of 23 units.

The majority of these units were part of the regimental organization as prescribed by the Tables of Organization of 1917, with the minimum of personnel.

The equipment in a great many cases was short or entirely missing until the latter part of the year, when sufficient capacity had been reached by the manufacturers to supply the entire needs of our forces, at which time all the units of the guard were equipped with the Browning gun.

TARGET PRACTICE, RANGES, AND COMPETITIONS.

Owing to the few National Guard units in existence in the summer of 1918, the shortage of officers of the Army available for detail as instructors, and the comparatively untrained condition of the new units organized to replace former organizations, all of which had been drafted into service, it was impracticable to keep up ranges and give courses of instruction in rifle practice as required for official classification.

But one annual report of small-arms firing was submitted; that came from the Territory of Hawaii, and showed the following results:

Sharpshooters, 2; marksmen, 3; first class, 9; second class, 8; unqualified, 800; total, 822.

✓ No State competitions were reported during the season.

The national matches were held at Camp Perry, Ohio, September 21-26, 1918, and the results were duly published in Bulletin No. 17, dated Adjutant General's Office, May 16, 1919. The only team sent from the National Guard was from Arkansas.

The act of July 9, 1918 (see Bul. 43, 1918, p. 33), appropriated $210,000 for manufacture and purchase of arms, ammunition, targets, and other accessories for small-arms target practice and instruction in their use; for badges and insignia; for instruction of citizens of the United States in marksmanship; all pursuant to section 113, act of June 3, 1916.

By paragraph 111, Special Order 164, 1918, Capt. Richard D. La Garde, United States Army, retired, was appointed director of civilian marksmanship, and ordered to report to the Chief of the Militia Bureau. This order was amended by Special Order 105-O, paragraph 18, May 5, 1919, which directs Capt. La Garde (major, United States Army) to report to the Assistant Secretary of War, under whose direct orders all matters connected with civilian marksmanship are now administered.

ARMORIES.

In many States the armories used by the National Guard are owned by the States, counties, cities, or organizations concerned, and represent investments of over $36,000,000. From the reports on these armories it is believed that they are, in general, more satisfactory than those owned by private parties and rented to organizations.

In the construction of future armories it is advisable to allow for certain rooms to be used for amusement and club purposes and for adequate bathing facilities; these features tend to facilitate recruiting and make for good morale and contentment on the part of the men.

Below is given a table showing, by States, the valuation of publicly owned armories and the annual rental paid for those privately owned.

FEDERAL PERSONNEL.

As officers and sergeants became available and as new organizations were inspected and extended Federal recognition, inspector-instructors and sergeant-instructors were detailed from time to time during the year. There were also several retired officers, who had been detailed before the war in connection with militia affairs, on duty in several States under the provisions of the act of April 23, 1904.

The following table shows their distribution:

FEDERAL FUNDS.

DISBURSEMENTS.

During the fiscal year 1919, there were but two appropriations available for expenditures in connection with the National Guard, viz: "Arming, equipping, and training the National Guard, 1919" and "Arms, uniforms, equipment, etc., for field service, National Guard, 1919." The total expenditures from these appropriations were respectively as follows:

Under section 67, act of June 3, 1916 (Arming, equipping, and training the National Guard, 1919).....	$1, 478, 486. 19
Under section 83, act of June 3, 1916 (Arms, uniforms, equipment, etc., for field service National Guard, 1919).....	2, 098, 772. 84

The appropriation of $3,240,150 under the head of "Arming, equipping, and training the National Guard, 1919," and the additional amount of $22,333.08 refunded by States for lost or sold property, made a total of $3,262,483.08 available for the various items of expenditures authorized in section 67 of the act of June 3, 1916, as appropriated for the Army appropriation act approved July 9, 1918, and from this total was disbursed the sum of $1,478,486.19, leaving an unexpended balance on June 30, 1919, of $1,783,996.89. While this unexpended balance would appear large, it was due to the fact that the original appropriation was made at a time when the conclusion of the then existing hostilities of the war was uncertain and the extent of the formation and recognition of new units of National Guard could not be determined.

Congress having adjourned on March 4, 1919, without providing for the maintenance of the National Guard for the ensuing fiscal year, the War Department authorized the organization of 183 infantry companies, National Guard, and if all of these organizations had been completed by the States and recognized by the War Department prior to the close of the fiscal year 1919 the cost of equipping them and providing other necessary expenses would have considerably reduced the unexpended balances of the appropriation. As a matter of fact, only 67 of the 183 units were organized and presented for recognition prior to June 30, 1919. The States failed to present 116 infantry companies which the War Department contemplated would be formed by June 30, 1919.

The total appropriation for the year under the heading "Arms, uniforms, equipment, etc., for field service, National Guard, 1919," was $3,210,000, and the total disbursements $2,098,772.84, leaving an undisbursed balance of $1,111,227.16. This balance is subject to further reduction by settlements yet to be made for equipment furnished the National Guard during the year, the supply bureaus not yet having submitted accounts for certain of these issues.

Tables of all expenditures in connection with the National Guard during the year are submitted in detail as an appendix to this report.

FEDERAL PROPERTY.

While the two mobilizations since the passage of the act of June 3, 1916, have prevented the National Guard in State service from being on a normal basis as to strength and equipment, it is apparent that the present law and regulations have resulted in a better understanding on the part of the States as to their obligation to properly care for Federal property issued to them for the use of the National Guard. During the year the bureau has, with the cooperation of the States concerned, practically cleared up the shortages which had accumulated during a number of years prior to June 3, 1916, and it is believed that within a few months all these old accounts will have been settled and the old system, under which the governors of States accounted for the property without bond therefor being furnished the Federal Government, shortages being charged against the States' allotment of Federal funds, will have become a matter of historical record. Under the present system, the United States property and disbursing officers are under bond to the Federal Government to properly account for all property issued to their respective States, and any losses occurring for reasons other than ordinary wear and tear or causes beyond the reasonable control of the State authorities are paid for in cash by the State and from State funds instead of from the Federal Treasury. During the fiscal year 1919, the sum of $12,882.66 was paid in cash by certain States for property lost under circumstances which did not justify the War Department in relieving the States from responsibility. It should be stated that the States making these payments have cheerfully admitted the justice of the reimbursements and it is believed that in the future the interests of the Federal Government will be more carefully considered in the matter of National Guard property than apparently obtained under the old system during the existence of which large amounts of public property were lost by carelessness and indifference of certain States intrusted with such property. On the other hand, it has been the purpose of the Militia Bureau and the War Department to make the States due allowances for any State-owned property taken over by the Federal Government for military use, and the States were requested to submit any such claims with corroborative evidence. A number of such claims have been settled by reimbursement to the States, other claims now being in the course of adjustment. In the case of one State having a large shortage in property under the Governor's accountability, the State was requested to settle the shortage by payment therefor, but, in the meantime, had submitted a claim for a considerable amount of State-owned property taken into Federal service. The evidence forwarded with the State's claim was satisfactory, but the Militia Bureau took the position that the State's claim was offset by the Federal Government's claim against the State for lost Federal property. The amount in each case was practically the same and the adjustment was made on the basis of one claim offsetting the other, thus closing the case to the satisfaction of both parties.

EQUIPPING NEW UNITS.

The equipping of the National Guard units recognized between July 1, 1918, and the date of the signing of the armistice was naturally handicapped by the necessary diversion of material to the Federal forces and for several months thereafter by the readjustment of supply services, but during the latter part of the year partial equipment was supplied the new units and, since the passage of the act of July 11, 1919, providing for the free issue of equipment from

Army stores, every effort has been made to supply complete equipment to the new units as recognition is extended. The present outlook for the complete equipment of the National Guard is exceedingly favorable.

NEW SYSTEM OF PROPERTY ACCOUNTING.

Under date of January 25, 1919, the Militia Bureau was instructed by the Secretary of War to apply to the National Guard the new system of property accounting prescribed for and installed by the Army beginning January 1, 1919. This action as to the National Guard was to date from July 1, 1919, and prior to this date the Militia Bureau prepared and issued the necessary and detailed instructions to the States by which the change of system of property accounting was to be effected and maintained. Practically no difficulty has developed in instituting this change of system, and it is believed that in this, as in other relations between the Army and the National Guard in State service, the application to the National Guard of the methods and systems used by the Army will result in benefit to the military system as a whole.

LEGISLATION.

No national legislation affecting the National Guard was enacted during the year except "An act to provide for enlistments in the National Guard of the District of Columbia" (Pub. 232, 65th Cong.).

This act is temporary and expires at the declaration of peace, with authority to hold officers and men three months beyond the official termination of the war if required by the President.

The law specified that those troops are for service within the District of Columbia, and in cases of emergency in the adjoining States of Maryland and Virginia. This act was approved November 4, 1918; otherwise the act of June 3, 1916, remained unmodified and in full effect at the end of the fiscal year 1919.

PART II.—UNITED STATES GUARDS.

Under War Department General Orders, No. 162, dated December 22, 1917, and authority conferred by section 2 of the act of Congress "to authorize the President to increase temporarily the Military Establishment of the United States," approved May 18, 1917, the organization of the United States Guards, National Army, under the direction of the Chief, Militia Bureau, was authorized. Under the above authority, the organization of United States guards was placed in the hands of the several department commanders, who commenced the organization of battalions in their departments, but on January 8, 1918, the further organization of this force was suspended. On April 15, 1918, the organization was again resumed, and continued until November 11, 1918, when the signing of the armistice made further organization unnecessary, and steps were taken to demobilize this force. During the periods enumerated, 48 battalions of United States guards were authorized, and in addition, one lieutenant colonel, two majors, and one captain were authorized to be appointed for detail with the United States Shipping Board Emergency Fleet Corporation, in connection with the inspection and placing of guards at plants engaged in work for the United States Shipping Board.

The commissioned and enlisted personnel of the 48 battalions, together with the four officers to be detailed with the United States Shipping Board, required 1,492 officers and 28,800 enlisted men, but only 1,216 officers and 25,068 enlisted men were on duty November 11, 1918, when the organization of this force was discontinued, leaving vacancies for 276 officers and 3,732 enlisted men. In the process of organization, there was a total of 232 officers promoted, 42 officers transferred to other branches of the service, 7 officers discharged, 5 officers resigned, and 6 officers died.

When the organization of the United States guards was discontinued, the battalions were assigned and organized as follows:

The Northeastern Department was assigned battalions Nos. 3, 7, 8, 27, and 31, which required 155 officers and 3,000 enlisted men. There were 155 officers and 2,812 enlisted men on duty November 11, 1918, leaving vacancies for 188 enlisted men in this department. In the process of organization, 44 officers were promoted, 3 officers transferred to other branches of the service, and 1 officer died.

The Eastern Department was assigned battalions Nos. 1, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 32, 33, 34, 45, 47, and 48, which required 465 officers and 9,000 enlisted men. There were 380 officers and 7,447 enlisted men on duty November 11, 1918, leaving vacancies for 85 officers and 1,553 enlisted men in this department. In the process of organization, 68 officers were promoted, 14 officers transferred to other branches of the service, 2 officers resigned, and 3 officers died.

The Southeastern Department was assigned battalions Nos. 4, 17, 28, 35, 41, and 42, which required 186 officers and 3,600 enlisted men. There were 144 officers and 3,474 enlisted men on duty November 11, 1918, leaving vacancies for 42 officers and 126 men in this department. In the process of organization, 14 officers were promoted, 6 officers transferred to other branches of the service, and 2 officers discharged.

The Southern Department was assigned battalions Nos. 2, 19, 20, 21, 22, 39, and 40, which required 217 officers and 4,200 enlisted men. There were 172 officers and 3,760 enlisted men on duty November 11, 1918, leaving vacancies for 45 officers and 440 enlisted men in this department. In the process of organization, 61 officers were promoted, 13 officers transferred to other branches of the service, 4 officers discharged, and 2 officers resigned.

The Central Department was assigned battalions Nos. 5, 18, 26, 29, 36, and 46, which required 186 officers and 3,600 enlisted men. There were 180 officers and 2,851 enlisted men on duty November 11, 1918, leaving vacancies for 6 officers and 749 enlisted men in this department. In the process of organization, 23 officers were promoted, 5 officers transferred to other branches of the service, and 1 officer died.

The Western Department was assigned battalions Nos. 6, 23, 24, 25, 30, 37, 38, 43, and 44, which required 279 officers and 5,400 enlisted men. There were 183 officers and 4,724 enlisted men on duty November 11, 1918, leaving vacancies for 96 officers and 676 enlisted men in this department. In the process of organization, 22 officers were promoted, 1 officer transferred to another branch of the service, 1 officer discharged, 1 officer resigned, and 1 officer died.

Two majors were appointed for duty with the United States Shipping Board Emergency Fleet Corporation, one being assigned to the Eastern Department, and the other to the Western Department, leaving one vacancy in the grade of lieutenant colonel and one vacancy in the grade of captain.

Officers were commissioned upon the recommendation of the Chief of the Militia Bureau based upon the result of examinations held in the several departments, and consisted of men who had prior military experience, but were not within the draft age limit and those who were within the draft age limit but found physically disqualified for oversea duty. The enlisted personnel was secured by voluntary enlistment of men who were not within the draft age limit and drafted men who after training were found physically disqualified for oversea duty.

This special force was used in carrying out the provisions of the President's proclamation pertaining to alien enemies and was used for the purpose of preserving and protecting major utilities essential to the conduct of the war in Europe. The force permitted the withdrawal of all Regular Army and National Guard troops engaged in guarding public utilities and property in order that they might be trained and transported to positions on the European battle front. The United States Guards performed very important functions and the services of the commissioned and enlisted personnel were very satisfactory.

From the time the United States Guards were organized, late in 1917, they were utilized to guard some three hundred and thirty-eight points considered to be of primary importance in the carrying out of the Government's war program, which may be grouped as follows:

Shipyards.....	108
Docks and railroad terminals.....	53
Arsenals.....	8
United States stores, property, and supplies.....	99
Government buildings.....	33
Railroad bridges and tunnels.....	18
Canal locks and waterways.....	3
Waterworks, reservoirs, dams, and mines.....	12
Provost guards.....	4

The above were distributed at various locations in 32 States and Territories and the District of Columbia.

A roster of the officers of this force showing date of commission, department in which serving, and changes of status, will be found in Part IV, Appendix C.

PART III.—STATE FORCES, HOME GUARDS, ETC.

Under date of February 14, 1919, matters pertaining to State forces were, by direction of the Secretary of War, turned over to the Militia Bureau. The following home guards or State troops, authorized under the act of Congress approved June 14, 1917, were in existence and had been partially armed and equipped for State use so far as the records of this bureau show. None of these organizations were National Guard as contemplated by the act of Congress approved June 3, 1916. Information has been received in this bureau that an effort will be made to change the status of some of these organizations to that of National Guard.

The list which follows is based upon reports received from the adjutants general of the respective States, and is as accurate as can be obtained from the records of this bureau.

- Arkansas, 63 companies home guard (50 to 100 each) 1 platoon of 30 men.
- California, 100 companies home guard.
- Connecticut, home guard (6,000 officers and men).

Delaware, 1 company Infantry with supply detachment.
 Florida, home guards in 34 towns.
 Georgia, 21 companies State guard (75 men per company).
 Indiana, 37 companies Infantry.
 Kansas, 49 battalions and 60 separate companies, State guards.
 Maryland, 1 regiment (2d Infantry) State guard.
 Massachusetts, 2 brigades (4 regiments Infantry each) 1 brigade (3 regiments Infantry), 1 motor corps, 1 troop cavalry, 1 ambulance company and 1 military emergency hospital.
 Michigan, 2 companies (2 mounted), 3 regiments Infantry, 2 battalions Infantry, and 25 separate companies Infantry.
 Minnesota, motor corps (10 battalions), 21 battalions home guards.
 New Hampshire, 1 regiment Infantry, State guard.
 New Jersey, State militia, staff corps and depots, 7 battalions and 2 separate companies Infantry; State militia reserve, 17 battalions Infantry and 36 separate companies.
 New Mexico, 7 companies home guard.
 New York, 1 regiment Engineers, 1 battalion Signal Corps, 4 squadrons Cavalry, 2 field hospitals, 2 ambulance companies, 40 coast Artillery Corps companies, 2 regiments Field Artillery, 15 regiments and 2 battalions Infantry.
 North Carolina, 53 companies reserve militia (average 64 men each).
 Ohio, 50 companies home guards.
 Pennsylvania, 3 regiments Infantry, 12 lettered companies each, machine-gun detachment, sanitary detachment and band for each regiment, and squadron of Cavalry (4 troops).
 Rhode Island, 18 companies State guards (100 men each), headquarters and supply company, machine-gun detachment and sanitary detachment.
 South Carolina, 1 regiment reserve militia and 1 additional battalion.
 South Dakota, 100 companies home guards.
 Vermont, 1 regiment Infantry.
 Virginia, 8 companies Infantry and 20 separate companies (home and State guards).
 Washington, 4 companies Infantry (provisional battalion).
 West Virginia, 3 companies militia reserve.
 Wisconsin, State guard: 4 regiments Infantry; State guard reserve: 1 separate battalion, 38 separate companies and 6 separate platoons.

Unfortunately the actual strength of these organizations was not reported to the Militia Bureau, but it is estimated that the forces enumerated have a total strength not to exceed 79,000 men.

Reports received in this bureau indicate that some of the organizations were excellent and rendered exceedingly valuable service.

ISSUES TO STATE FORCES.

Under an act of June 14, 1917, Congress authorized the issue of "rifles, ammunition, cartridge belts, haversacks, and canteens" to States for the use of home guards, State troops and similar military organizations not recognized as National Guard units, such issues to be limited to the articles cited and to the period of the emergency. Most of the States availed themselves of this provision and obtained the articles mentioned, the State authorities being bonded for their safekeeping and return and also being required to insure the property against loss by fire. Under the present law and regulations, these articles, excepting such ammunition as may have been expended, are to be returned to the Federal Government upon the termination of the war emergency. The number of arms issued to the States for home guard purposes up to June 30, 1919, aggregated 78,008.

PART IV.—PERSONNEL OF MILITIA BUREAU AND OFFICE FORCE.

I am indebted to the officers detailed with the bureau for their valuable assistance in the formulation of policies dealing with the reorganization of the National Guard, and for their able efforts in attempting to insure progress with the sole end in view of securing a dependable force of citizen soldiery. Much time has been devoted to revising and rearranging the National Guard regulations. A new edition of these regulations was made necessary by reason of the enactment of the act of June 3, 1916, subsequent laws, and decisions based thereon, which modified to a considerable extent the relations existing between the Federal Government and the National Guard. The revision has been completed and it is believed that the printed regulations will be distributed within a few months.

On June 30, 1919, the following-named officers were on duty in the Militia Bureau:

Maj. Gen. Jesse McI. Carter, General Staff, United States Army.
 Col. Christopher C. Collins, Medical Corps.
 Col. Francis B. Wilby, Corps of Engineers (major, Corps of Engineers).
 Col. Philip W. Corbusier, Cavalry (captain, Cavalry).
 Col. Dana T. Merrill, General Staff, United States Army (major, Infantry).
 Col. Lewis D. Greene, United States Army (major, United States Army, retired).
 Lieut. Col. John W. Heavey, Infantry.
 Lieut. Col. George R. Harrison, Infantry (captain, Infantry).
 Lieut. Col. Jesse D. Elliott, Infantry (captain, Infantry).
 Lieut. Col. Henry R. Stiles, United States Army (major, United States Army, retired).
 Lieut. Col. Louis C. Wilson, Quartermaster Corps.
 Maj. Walter C. Gullion, Infantry (captain, Infantry).
 Maj. Daniel W. Hand, Field Artillery (captain, Field Artillery).

Officers who were relieved from duty in the bureau since the last annual report are as follows:

Col. Louis T. Hess, Medical Corps.
 Col. Frank M. Rumbold, Field Artillery.
 Maj. Frank P. Avery, United States Army, retired.
 Maj. Frank D. Rash, Inspector General's Department.
 Maj. Charles L. Charlebois, Quartermaster Corps.
 Maj. Henry L. Butler, Adjutant General's Department.

I wish in addition to testify to the faithful work and excellent spirit of the employees of the bureau during the past year. The force was handicapped by its inadequacy in numbers, but the additional time required for that reason was given ungrudgingly. The present strength is barely sufficient for the demands of normal conditions, and the reorganization of the National Guard will necessitate time and labor that can not well be met by the force as now authorized. Efficient administration of the clerical work of the bureau requires an increase in the number of clerks, and it is urgently recommended that the additional employees that will be included in the estimates for the fiscal year 1921 be allowed.

During the period August 15, 1918, to February 8, 1919, Brig. Gen. John W. Heavey, United States Army, was in charge of the Militia Bureau. The present chief of this bureau was engaged in developing the Eleventh Regular Division and remained with it until this division was demobilized at Camp Meade, Md., and on February 6, 1919, was appointed Chief of the Militia Bureau, assuming the duty February 8, 1919.

Respectfully submitted.

J. McI. CARTER,
Major General, General Staff, United States Army,
Chief Militia Bureau.

The SECRETARY OF WAR.

REPORTS OF OFFICERS IN CHARGE, MILITIA AFFAIRS.

The reports of the officers in charge of militia affairs at the different department headquarters are furnished herewith.

The report from the Southern Department is not given in full, due to its extent and its minute detail. The essential parts only have been extracted.

REPORT OF OPERATIONS OF THE NATIONAL GUARD IN THE NORTHEASTERN DEPARTMENT, JULY 1, 1918, TO JUNE 30, 1919.

The following report of National Guard operations in the Northeastern Department covers the period from July 1, 1918, to June 30, 1919.

Pursuant to the President's proclamation of July 3, 1917, all the National Guard units in the New England States were drafted into the service of the United States.

On February 28, 1918, authority was granted by the Militia Bureau for the State of Maine to organize one regiment of Infantry, and under the provisions of Circular Letter No. 4, Militia Bureau, April 20, 1918, the State of Maine was allowed the minimum staff organization as prescribed for two regiments or less.

On July 1, 1918, there were in the Maine National Guard the following units recognized as indicated:

Company D, Third Maine Infantry, April 24, 1918.

Companies A, B, and C, Third Maine Infantry, May 11, 1918.

During the period covered by this report Federal recognition has been extended to the following: Companies E, F, G, H, I, K, L, M, and Machine-Gun Company, Third Maine Infantry, to date from August 31, 1918. Federal recognition was also extended to the officers subject to future examination to determine their fitness for their present commissions (letter from Chief, Militia Bureau, Sept. 5, 1918).

Under the authority of letter from Chief, Militia Bureau, to the adjutant general of Vermont, dated July 3, 1919, Federal recognition was extended to Machine Gun Company and Company A, Vermont Infantry, as legally constituted National Guard, to date from June 25, 1919. Federal recognition of the officers was extended, subject to examination, to date from the date they subscribed to the Federal oath.

Up to June 30, 1919, it seemed to be the consensus of opinion of all the adjutants general of the New England States that it would be better to await action of Congress and the return from overseas of those divisions containing old National Guard organizations before taking steps looking toward the reorganization of the National Guard.

Within this department there were in existence at the close of the fiscal year the following State Guards:

In Massachusetts, 2 brigades of Infantry of 3 regiments each, 1 Motor Corps of 4 companies, 1 troop Cavalry.

In Connecticut, about 6,000 men.

In Rhode Island, 18 companies of Infantry and machine gun and sanitary units.

REPORT OF OPERATIONS OF THE NATIONAL GUARD IN THE EASTERN DEPARTMENT FROM SEPTEMBER 1, 1918, TO JUNE 30, 1919.

1. Pursuant to telegraphic instructions from the Chief, Militia Bureau, dated September 3, 1919, the following report is submitted covering the operations of the National Guard in this department, period September 1, 1918 (date of rendition of last Annual Report), to June 30, 1919.

2. During the period covered the following-named officers were on duty in charge militia affairs at these headquarters:

(a) Col. Frederick Perkins, Infantry, September 1, 1918, to February 3, 1919.

(b) Col. Lewis D. Greene, United States Army, from February 6, 1919, to May 14, 1919.

(c) Col. S. W. Miller, Infantry, from May 15, 1919, to date.

COMPOSITION OF NATIONAL GUARD, EASTERN DEPARTMENT, AT DATE OF LAST ANNUAL REPORT.

1. At rendition of the last annual report the National Guard in the Eastern Department consisted of:

(a) The Second Regiment of Field Artillery, and the Third and Fourth Companies of Coast Artillery, New Jersey National Guard, all not in the Federal service.

(b) The Tenth, Eleventh, Twelfth, Thirteenth, and Fourteenth Companies of Coast Artillery, Virginia National Guard, called into Federal service May 1, 1918.

DRAFT OF NATIONAL GUARD.

1. The War Department, pursuant to telegraphic instructions dated November 13, 1918, drafted into the Federal service the five companies of Virginia Coast Artillery, National Guard, previously called into Federal service, and at the time on duty guarding public utilities, and ordered that they be sent to Camp Meade, Md., for demobilization. Telegraphic instructions were sent from these headquarters to the company commanders of each of the said organizations as to the steps to be taken to carry into effect the provisions of the draft. The said companies left the jurisdiction of the Eastern Department November 20-21, 1918.

PROSPECTIVE NEW ORGANIZATIONS.

1. To be advised as to organization of new units to replace those of the National Guard drafted and sent overseas, these headquarters inquired on December 24, 1918, as to the intentions of the different States and the District of Columbia in the matter. Replies as follows were received:

Delaware.—"Up to the present time no new National Guard units have been organized, but it is expected that with the return of the National Guard of this State from overseas a reorganization can be effected; therefore, this office is unable to submit an estimate of the clothing and equipment required."

District of Columbia.—"Reference to letter of December 24, your office, upon this subject, it is impossible at this time to definitely state what organizations of the National Guard will be established in the District of Columbia in the near future. The formation of the Fifth Infantry is progressing in a satisfactory manner; also the formation of the Separate Battalion, which is to be a colored unit."

Maryland.—"This office acknowledges receipt of your letter of December 24, 1918 (Militia 325.4 Md.), in regard to the organization of new National Guard units. The question is being considered of the organization of one regiment of Infantry, and as a nucleus for this organization it is desired to transfer the Second Infantry, Maryland State Guard, to National Guard."

New Jersey.—"With the information that this office is arranging, with the approval of the Militia Bureau, for the transfer of the Second Regiment, Field Artillery, to a regiment of Infantry, and the organization of an additional regiment of Infantry from the State Militia."

New York.—"The military authorities of the State of New York contemplate requesting, in the near future, the War Department to extend Federal recognition to the following units of the New York Guard:

"Two companies of Signal Corps, 1 regiment of Engineers, 4 squadrons of Cavalry, 2 regiments of Field Artillery, 36 companies of Coast Artillery, 15 regiments of Infantry, 2 field hospitals, and 3 ambulance companies.

"These organizations have been in existence for some time as State troops, but will require considerable reorganization before they are ready for Federal recognition. It is possible that it will be several months before all of them will be ready for Federal recognition."

Pennsylvania.—"In answer to your inquiry of December 24 as to the formation of new National Guard units, you are advised that at this time the State of Pennsylvania will not organize any new National Guard organizations."

DISBANDMENT OF NATIONAL GUARD UNITS.

On February 28, 1919, pursuant to request of the adjutant general, State of New Jersey, the Militia Bureau authorized disbandment of the Second Regiment Field Artillery and the third and fourth companies Coast Artillery, New Jersey National Guard. The officers and enlisted men of the said organizations were transferred to the National Guard Reserve or discharged, pursuant to Special Order, No. 71, State of New Jersey, March 27, 1919.

NEW ORGANIZATIONS.

District of Columbia.—Under date of December 4, 1918, the department commander was authorized by the Chief, Militia Bureau, to detail an officer to inspect for Federal recognition Company C, District of Columbia Infantry, National Guard. Capt. R. D. LaGarde, United States Army, retired, made the required inspection, and the report thereof was received at these headquarters December 12, 1918. The unit was extended Federal recognition as of date of December 14, 1918, and the officers thereof recognized, subject to future examination. The District of Columbia now has two Infantry companies: Company A, recognized from August 22, 1918, and Company C, Fifth Infantry.

New Jersey.—The State of New Jersey took steps to organize a sanitary detachment to complete its Second Regiment of Field Artillery, and upon receipt of instructions from the Chief, Militia Bureau, September 9, 1918, Maj. John J. Cowdrey, Coast Artillery, was detailed to make the required inspection for Federal recognition of this unit September 20, 1918. Report was received at these headquarters on September 29 and forwarded to the chief, Militia Bureau. Recognition of this detachment was suspended for the reason that it lacked the strength prescribed by the Tables of Organization, May 3, 1917. Before suspension of recognition was raised by the Militia Bureau the entire regiment was disbanded.

Under date of June 4, 1919, the adjutant general of the State of New Jersey requested that an officer be detailed to inspect for Federal recognition the units of a regiment of Infantry subsequently designated as the Sixth New Jersey Infantry, National Guard, and one company of Coast Artillery. The department commander, pursuant to authority from the War Department, dated April 18, 1919 (file 325.4, N. J. Misc. Div.), detailed Capts. Francis A. Byrne and Clarence Bodwell, Twenty-second Infantry, United States Army, to make the required inspections between June 16 to June 26, 1919. Reports were received at these headquarters covering the said inspections and immediately forwarded to the chief, Militia Bureau, with recommendation. Virginia.—By letter of May 6, 1918, the Chief, Militia Bureau, informed these headquarters that the State of Virginia had requested authority and had been authorized to form one regiment of Infantry, National Guard. On September 20, 1918, the adjutant general requested that a machine gun company, Virginia Infantry, Richmond, Va., be inspected for Federal recognition. The Militia Bureau authorized this inspection and Capt. Stuart A. Hamilton, Coast Artillery Corps, was detailed as inspector. The report of inspection was received at these headquarters October 7, 1918, and forwarded to the Chief, Militia Bureau. The organization was extended Federal recognition as of date of October 7, 1918.

Under date of June 6, 1919, pursuant to telegraphic request of the adjutant general of Virginia that an Army officer be detailed to inspect for Federal recognition a new Infantry company at Charlottesville, Va., Capt. W. Stewart Paul, Sixty-third Infantry, was directed to proceed to that city to inspect said company. Report of inspection was received at these headquarters June 15, 1919, and forwarded to the Chief, Militia Bureau, on the following day, with recommendation that the company be extended Federal recognition. The company and the officers thereof were Federally recognized to date from June 11, 1919. This was the first unit of those authorized in letter from The Adjutant General of the Army to department commander, dated April 23, 1919 (A. G. O. 325, 4 Va. Misc. Div.), presented for Federal recognition.

Under date of June 17, 1919, pursuant to telegraphic request of the adjutant general of Virginia that an Army officer be detailed to inspect a new Infantry company at Petersburg, Va., Capt. Francis W. Kernan, Sixty-third Infantry, was directed to proceed to that city to inspect said company for Federal recognition. The report of said inspection was received at these headquarters on June 27, 1919, and forwarded to the Chief, Militia Bureau, on the following day, with the recommendation that the company be extended Federal recognition. Recognition was granted to this company to date from July 14, 1919.

Under date of June 27, 1919, pursuant to telegraphic request of the adjutant general of Virginia, the department commander directed Capt. Francis W. Kernan, Sixty-third Infantry, to proceed to Lynchburg, Va., to inspect for Federal recognition the newly organized company of Infantry, located in that city. Report of inspection was received at these headquarters on July 7, 1919, and was forwarded to the Chief, Militia Bureau, with recommendation that Federal recognition be withheld from this company for the reason that its organization does not comply with the Tables of Organization, May 3, 1917, as amended by War Department instructions, April 24, 1919, setting a minimum of 3 officers and 65 enlisted men to the Infantry company. Recognition was subsequently extended this company by the War Department to date from July 28, 1919.

UNITS AUTHORIZED TO BE RECOGNIZED PRIOR TO JUNE 30, 1919.

Two letters dated April 18 and 24, 1919, from the War Department authorized the States of New Jersey, New York, and Virginia to organize units specified below prior to June 30, 1919, for the reason that existing appropriations would lapse on that date unless sooner obligated.

New Jersey.—One regiment of Infantry, 2 companies of Coast Artillery.

New York.—Four regiments of Infantry, 1 squadron (4 troops) of Cavalry, 1 coast defense command (12 companies).

Virginia.—Two battalions of Infantry, 4 companies of Coast Artillery.

EXAMINATION OF NATIONAL GUARD OFFICERS.

Conformable to instructions contained in Militia Bureau Circular Letters Nos. 4, 6, and 7, 1918, with the assistance of the United States Army recruiting officers, three officers of the State staff corps and departments were examined. Two of the three officers successfully passed the examination and are now Federally recognized.

The organization of the five companies of Virginia Coast Artillery, National Guard, into a battalion necessitated the examination and appointment of a battalion commander and his staff. On recommendation of the Chief, Militia Bureau, in letter, September 11, 1918, it was deemed expedient to examine these officers (Maj. Wilson H. Cralle, First Lieut. Percy V. Dennis, and Second Lieut. Charles W. Moss) pursuant to Circular No. 13, Militia Bureau, 1916, for the reason that none had previous military experience. The two lieutenants had been called into Federal service with their respective companies May 1, 1918, as enlisted men, while the major was a new appointee. An examination similar to that given to officers of the United States Guards was given these officers. The battalion of Virginia Coast Artillery was performing similar duties in this department as the United States Guards.

The appointment of Maj. Cralle was announced in Special Orders No. 58, Headquarters Eastern Department, October 21, 1918. The appointment of First Lieut. Dennis and Second Lieut. Moss were announced in Special Orders No. 249, Headquarters Eastern Department, October 10, 1918.

STATE ENCAMPMENTS.

There were no State encampments of the National Guard in this department during the period covered by this report.

SETTLEMENT ACCOUNTABILITY LATE LIEUT. COL. HARRY A. BOSTWICK, NEW YORK NATIONAL GUARD.

The duties of a board of officers appointed by paragraph 26, Special Orders No. 232, Headquarters Eastern Department, 1917, and pursuant to telegram from Chief, Militia Bureau, dated August 30, 1917, to inventory and complete customary returns of property and funds covering the accountability of late Lieut. Col. Henry A. Bostwick, property and disbursing officer for the State of New York, was completed and final report was submitted to the Chief, Militia Bureau, by the board through these headquarters on September 24, 1918.

INSPECTOR-INSTRUCTORS.

[Sec. 100, act of June 3, 1916.]

The following-named officers were appointed inspector-instructors in the Eastern Department by War Department orders, viz:

List of inspector-instructors, Eastern Department.

Name.	Rank.	Order detailing.	Station.	Date reported.
Moore, George O. ....	Colonel, Infantry....	Par. 136, S. O. 106-0, WD., May 6, 1919.	829 Municipal Building, New York City.	May 16, 1919
Hathaway, Levy M. ....	Colonel, Medical Corps (lieutenant colonel, Medical Corps).	Par. 15, S. O. 139-0, WD., June 14, 1919.	.....do.....	June 23, 1919
Smith, Talbot.....	Lieutenant colonel, Infantry (captain, Cavalry).	Par. 86, S. O. 111-0, WD., May 12, 1919.	.....do.....	May 24, 1919

The above-named officers are now on duty. During the past year it was found that the lack of permanent inspector-instructors with the States having organized National Guard units deprived the said units of much needed instruction and training.

REPORT CHIEF MILITIA BUREAU.

SERGEANT-INSTRUCTORS.

[Sec. 36, act of June 3, 1916.]

The Militia Bureau by letter dated May 27, 1919, on the subject of selection of non-commissioned officers for detail as sergeant-instructors with the National Guard, requested that a selection of suitable men for this duty from companies of Infantry and troops of Cavalry now serving in the Eastern Department be taken up with the departmental commander. Under date of June 14, 1919, the names of 14 sergeants of Infantry and 1 sergeant of Cavalry were submitted to the Militia Bureau for the purpose indicated.

The establishing of a school of sergeant-instructors for duty with the National Guard at Camp Benning, Ga., and the attendance thereat of noncommissioned officers of the Infantry regiments in this department, who have special qualifications, it is thought will result in providing qualified sergeant-instructors to assist the inspector-instructors in their very important duties.

From May 16 to July 16, 1919, a total of 26 noncommissioned officers from the Infantry regiments in the Eastern Department were sent, pursuant to War Department instructions, to Camp Benning to take the course of instructions for the position of sergeant-instructor.

ARMORY INSPECTION.

The annual inspection of the National Guard in this department as prescribed by section 93 of the act of June 3, 1916, was duly made and action taken by the department commander as prescribed in subparagraph 15, paragraph 193, Army Regulations, as changed by Changed Army Regulations No. 60, September 21, 1917. The units so inspected by the department inspector's office, pursuant to instructions from the Inspector General of the Army, are as follows:

State.	Unit.	Station.	Date.
District of Columbia.....	Company A, Fifth Infantry.....	Washington, D. C.....	Feb. 28, 1919
	Company C, Fifth Infantry.....	do.....	Mar. 1, 1919
Virginia.....	Machine Gun Company, Infantry.....	Richmond, Va.....	Mar. 25, 1919
	State administrative staff, Virginia National Guard.	do.....	Mar. 26, 1919

ORGANIZATION OF UNITED STATES GUARDS.

The organization and equipment of the 15 battalions of United States Guards allotted to the Eastern Department for duty guarding public utilities was assigned to this office. The names of candidates for commission were furnished by the Chief, Militia Bureau, in most cases. The candidates were examined by a board of officers duly appointed by the department commander.

S. W. MILLER,

Colonel, Infantry, Officer in Charge Militia Affairs.

REPORT OF OPERATIONS OF THE NATIONAL GUARD IN THE SOUTHEASTERN DEPARTMENT, JULY 1, 1918, TO JUNE 30, 1919.

On July 1, 1918, there had been called into the Federal service National Guard from States in the Southeastern Department 1,651 officers and 46,760 men.

The following units of National Guard had been extended Federal recognition and were in existence on July 1, 1918: Fourth Regiment, Tennessee; Fifth Regiment, Tennessee; Fourth Regiment, Arkansas; First Battalion, Arkansas Engineers; Fourth Company, Coast Artillery, Florida.

Federal recognition was extended to all officers of these organizations, subject to future examination to determine their fitness for grades held.

Seven companies of the Fifth Arkansas Infantry were inspected but Federal recognition was not extended.

Upon request of the adjutant general of the State of Florida dated September 23, 1918, the disbandment of the Fourth Company, Coast Artillery Corps, National Guard, Florida, as authorized by Militia Bureau Circular Letter No. 3, dated March 27, 1918, was made of record by the Militia Bureau.

The reorganization of the National Guard, Tennessee, as requested by the adjutant general of Tennessee, was authorized by the Militia Bureau, August 15 to 23, 1918. This reorganization, when completed, left the National Guard of Tennessee constituted as follows: One regiment Infantry, one separate battalion, Infantry, two separate companies, Infantry.

Later in November, 1918, the State property and disbursing officer made an inspection of the armory facilities and equipment of the National Guard of Tennessee, and authority was requested of, and granted by, the Militia Bureau to consolidate all National Guard units in Tennessee into one regiment (Fourth Regiment), and this change became effective February 1, 1919.

First indorsement, Militia Bureau, dated April 23, 1919, authorized the organization of one battalion of Infantry, National Guard, in the State of Florida. The adjutant general notified this office June 23, 1919, that units at Jacksonville, St. Augustine, Daytona, Miami, Tampa, and St. Petersburg would be ready for inspection June 26, 1919. An inspector was detailed by wire to make this inspection according to itinerary proposed by the State adjutant general. His report showed that only three of these units, those at Daytona, Miami, and Tampa, were presented for inspection, and since the requirements for recognition had not been fully met Federal recognition was not recommended.

Under date of May 9, 1919, the Militia Bureau authorized the organization of eight companies of Infantry, National Guard, in the State of South Carolina. This office was informed that eight companies would be ready for inspection commencing June 16. Inspection was made by an officer detailed for the purpose. Four companies only were presented for inspection, two at Charleston, and one each at Hartsville and Greenville, S. C. Federal recognition was recommended in each case.

The organization of one regiment of Infantry, National Guard, Alabama, was authorized by the Militia Bureau under date of June 11, but no part of this regiment and ready for inspection prior to June 30, 1919.

ANNUAL ENCAMPMENT.

A letter from the Militia Bureau dated July 20, 1918, informed the officer in charge of militia affairs at these headquarters that it was the desire of the Militia Bureau that every facility possible be afforded for the training and promotion of efficiency of all National Guard units, which had been organized and recognized since the draft of August 5, 1917. This applied to the Fourth and Fifth Regiments of Infantry in Tennessee, the Fourth Regiment of Infantry and the First Battalion of Engineers in Arkansas and to the Fourth Company, Coast Artillery Corps, of Florida. On July 29, 1918, letters were sent to the adjutants general of the States of Arkansas, Florida, and Tennessee requesting information as to the practicability of holding 15-day encampments.

The adjutant general of Arkansas wired these headquarters on September 2, 1918, to the effect that owing to the reduction of companies through operation of the individual draft law it was impracticable to hold a National Guard 15-day encampment during that year.

The adjutant general of Florida wrote on September 11, 1918, that the Fourth Company, Coast Artillery Corps, National Guard, of Florida, had lost so great a number of its members through the individual drafting that authority had been requested of the Militia Bureau to disband this organization and to discharge all remaining members of the company from the National Guard. This authority was granted the Fourth Company, Coast Artillery Corps, National Guard, of Florida.

The adjutant general of Tennessee wired these headquarters August 15, 1918, expressing willingness to hold a 15-day camp at Camp John Sevier, near Knoxville, Tenn. A schedule of instruction was proposed by an Army officer on duty with the National Guard of Tennessee. The original date set for the commencing of the 15-day encampment was August 24, 1918. This was later changed to September 30, 1918, owing to nonarrival of equipment. For this same reason the date for the encampment was later changed again and set for October 7, 1918. On October 1, 1918, the adjutant general of Tennessee wired that owing to the epidemic of influenza the date of the proposed encampment must be indefinitely postponed and this postponement was approved.

ANNUAL ARMORY INSPECTION.

Annual armory inspection of the National Guard of Arkansas was made by Col. J. M. Wheeler, Inspector General's Department, on March 31, 1919, and the following sums up his conclusions from this inspection:

"The organizations of National Guard of Arkansas are at present on paper only. The adjutant general of the State remarked that at last session of legislature $100,000 was appropriated for the support of National Guard and reorganization of the guard would be taken up as officers and enlisted men were discharged from the United States service. It is recommended that withdrawal of Federal recognition be held in abeyance until reports of progress from an inspector-instructor are received."

In regard to equipment it was reported that practically all of the property was new and the greater part of it was in the original packages, stored in a fireproof, dry store-room in the basement of the State Capitol Building, Little Rock, Ark.

Inspection of the one regiment of National Guard Infantry in Tennessee as completed in March, 1919, by Col. Wheeler, showed that the discipline of the organization was good and that the efficiency was fair. Unreasonable delay in issuing property to the regiment and inability to properly prepare pay rolls have resulted in dissatisfaction to a great extent throughout the regiment. Steps to remedy these deficiencies are being taken.

INSPECTOR-INSTRUCTORS.

Pursuant to Special Order No. 106-O, War Department, May 6, 1919, Col. Walter B. McCaskey reported his arrival at Chattanooga, Tenn., May 27, 1919, for duty as inspector-instructor, vice Lieut. Col. Charles B. Rogan, United States Army, retired, on duty with Tennessee National Guard. Under authority of Adjutant General's Office telegram of May 21, 1919, and upon recommendation of the adjutant general of the State of Tennessee, Col. McCaskey was directed to change his headquarters from Chattanooga to Nashville, Tenn.

Maj. Easton R. Gibson, Infantry, reported his arrival at Little Rock, Ark., April 3, 1919, in compliance with Special Order No. 69-O, War Department, March 24, 1919, for duty as inspector-instructor of Arkansas.

SERGEANT-INSTRUCTORS.

Under date of April 16, 1919, the Chief, Militia Bureau, communicated with these headquarters in regard to providing sergeant instructors required for duty with the National Guard Infantry troops within the limits of this department, the number being three for the Tennessee National Guard and three for the Arkansas National Guard. On May 7, 1919, the names of six noncommissioned officers of Infantry and Coast Artillery were submitted to the Chief, Militia Bureau, as available and recommended for this purpose. On June 12, 1919, The Adjutant General directed that one noncommissioned officer be transferred from this command to the school for sergeant-instructors, Camp Benning, Ga., and in compliance therewith First Sergt. John W. Hilton was sent to Camp Benning for attendance at the school mentioned.

REMARKS.

The undersigned reported at these headquarters, in compliance with paragraph 91, Special Orders No. 103, War Department, 1919, as officer in charge of militia affairs, May 12, 1919. As set forth in paragraph 1, circular letter, Chief, Militia Bureau, May 12, 1919, every effort has been made to get in personal touch with the adjutants general of the States in the department. The opinion is general that, with few exceptions, officers and men recently discharged from Federal service are at present surfeited with military activities and not only decline to enter the National Guard but by their talk disincline others to do so; the opinion is also general that reaction from this feeling will come in a few months and that it will then not be difficult to secure the quotas authorized.

REPORT OF OPERATIONS OF THE NATIONAL GUARD IN THE CENTRAL DEPARTMENT, JULY 1, 1918, TO JUNE 30, 1919.

As officer in charge of militia affairs, Central Department, I submit the following annual report for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1919:

At the beginning of the year Col. Carl Reichmann, Infantry, United States Army, was in charge of the office. Capt Stanley Howland, Adjutant General's Department, relieved Col. Reichmann on October 16, 1918, and remained in temporary charge until relieved by Col. Abraham B. Buffington, Infantry (retired), on November 26, 1918. The undersigned assumed charge on April 2, 1919, relieving Col. Buffington, pursuant to paragraph 50, Special Orders No. 70-O, War Department, 1919, and paragraph 13, Special Orders No. 78, headquarters Central Department, 1919.

Inasmuch as all National Guard units in existence prior to August 5, 1917, were drafted into the military service of the United States in accordance with the provisions of the act of Congress approved May 18, 1917, and as the new units—authorized within the quota prescribed by the act of June 3, 1916, to take the place of those drafted into

Federal service—were slow in organizing, the National Guard organizations of the 15 States embraced by the Central Department were limited at the beginning of the year to one regiment and one battalion of Infantry and a few minor units of Field Artillery and Hospital Corps.

On July 1, 1918, in this department the National Guard with Federal recognition was composed of the following organizations:

Indiana.—Second Field Artillery. (Upon request of the adjutant general of Indiana the disbandment of this regiment was authorized September 14, 1918, by the Militia Bureau, but no report has been received that the disbandment has been accomplished.)

Iowa.—Four companies, Fourth Regiment Infantry; one Battery (A) Field Artillery; and one Field Hospital Company (No. 3).

Missouri.—Seventh Regiment Infantry.

Federal recognition as legally constituted National Guard within the meaning of the act of Congress approved June 3, 1916, has been extended to the following National Guard units during the fiscal year 1919, viz:

Colorado.—By letter from the Chief of the Militia Bureau under date of October 10, 1918, Federal recognition was extended to the Third Colorado Infantry, National Guard, to date from October 4, 1918, subject to the prompt organization, inspection, and recognition of the sanitary detachment in accordance with Circular 31, Militia Bureau, December 12, 1916. The sanitary detachment was organized and inspected and received Federal recognition to date from November 27, 1918. Federal recognition was also extended to Troop A, Colorado Cavalry, to date from November 4, 1918; to Signal Corps Company (Outpost) to date from November 19, 1918; and to Battery D, Colorado Field Artillery, from February 5, 1919.

Iowa.—Four companies, A, B, C, and D, Fourth Infantry, Iowa National Guard, were organized and had received Federal recognition before the beginning of the fiscal year. Under date of October 18, 1918, the Chief of the Militia Bureau extended Federal recognition to Company E, same regiment, to date from October 5, 1918; on December 18, 1918, to Company F to date from December 11, 1918; on May 10, 1919, to the sanitary detachment attached to the regiment, to the machine gun company, to the supply company, and to companies G, H, I, K, L, and M; and on July 3, 1919, to the headquarters and headquarters company to date from June 21, 1919, which completed the organization of the Fourth Iowa Infantry.

Kansas.—By letter of December 14, 1918, the adjutant general of Kansas was advised by the Chief of the Militia Bureau that Federal recognition had been extended to the Fourth Kansas Infantry to date from November 29, 1918, subject to the prompt organization, inspection, and recognition of the Sanitary Detachment in accordance with Circular 31, Militia Bureau, December 12, 1916. Attention was invited to the fact that the Fourth Kansas Infantry could not be considered for camp or other service as a regiment until the organization of the sanitary detachment had been completed and the unit recognized by the War Department. Federal recognition had not been extended to the sanitary detachment at the end of the year.

Minnesota.—Under date of December 3, 1918, Federal recognition was extended to Companies E, H, and M, Fourth Minnesota Infantry, to date from November 26, 1918; and on January 24, 1919, after due inspection, the remaining organizations of the Fourth Minnesota Infantry (including the sanitary troops attached to this regiment) were granted Federal recognition from that date.

Under date of January 17, 1919, Federal recognition was extended to the Fifth Infantry, Minnesota National Guard (including the sanitary troops attached to this regiment), from that date.

The Sixth Infantry, Minnesota National Guard (including the sanitary troops attached to this regiment), was granted Federal recognition to date from January 30, 1919, as stated in letter to the adjutant general of Minnesota from the Chief of the Militia Bureau under same date.

Missouri.—In letter of October 1, 1918, the Chief of the Militia Bureau advised the adjutant general of Missouri that Federal recognition, to date from September 26, 1918, had been extended to the sanitary detachment assigned to the Seventh Missouri Infantry, National Guard, which regiment had been previously recognized under date of May 14, 1918.

Under date of April 3, 1919, the department commander was advised that the Secretary of War had authorized the adjutant general of Missouri to proceed with the organization of one additional regiment of Infantry in the National Guard, under the provisions of the act of June 3, 1916, making a total of two regiments of Infantry in the Missouri National Guard, inclusive of the regiment already recognized by the War Department. The organization of the new regiment to be that prescribed in Tables of Organization, United States Army, 1917, and the units to have the following enlisted strength: "Lettered companies, 65; headquarters company, 58; supply company, 29; and machine-gun company, 53," in order to receive Federal recognition as National Guard. Before the end of the year, after report of inspection for recognition of Company H, First Regiment, Missouri Infantry, had been received by the Chief of the Militia Bureau, Federal recognition was extended to the said company to date from June 30, 1919.

Ohio.—Under date of April 23, 1919, The Adjutant General of the Army advised the department commander that authority had been granted the adjutant general of Ohio to proceed with the organization of two regiments of Infantry, National Guard, under the provisions of the act of June 3, 1916; said regiments to be organized under Tables of Organization approved May 3, 1917, except that for the present the lettered companies will be presented for recognition and maintained as National Guard at an enlisted strength of 65, the machine gun and supply companies at the minimum strength authorized by Tables of Organization.

The inspection for recognition having been completed, Federal recognition was extended to Company B, Ohio Infantry, to date from June 26, 1919; to Company K, to date from June 23, 1919; to Company H, to date from June 29, 1919, and to Company E, to date from June 30, 1919. The War Department disapproved the designation (One hundred and forty-sixth Infantry) intended for the new regiment to which the above-named companies belong, and the adjutant general of Ohio was advised that the recognition is extended pending the selection of a new designation.

The annual armory inspection prescribed by section 93 of the act of June 3, 1916, was made during the month of March, as follows:

Colorado—By Maj. D. E. McCunniff: State administrative staff, Third Regiment Infantry, sanitary detachment. By Lieut. Col. S. M. Williams: Battery D, Field Artillery; Troop A, First Cavalry; Signal Corps Company (Outpost).

Iowa—By Maj. C. Stacey: State administrative staff, First Battalion headquarters, Companies A, B, C, D, E, and F.

Kansas—By Capt. G. M. Wright, jr.: State administrative staff, Fourth Regiment Infantry.

Minnesota—By Capt. F. W. Hatterscheidt: Fourth Regiment Infantry. By Capt. W. F. Schroeder: Administrative staff, Fifth Regiment Infantry. By Col. F. V. S. Chamberlain: Sixth Regiment Infantry.

Missouri—By Lieut. Col. R. G. Caldwell: Administrative staff, Seventh Regiment Infantry, State camp ground.

No field inspections under the direction of the department commander were made, as no encampments, maneuvers, or field exercises of National Guard troops were held during the year. An encampment of the Seventh Infantry, Missouri National Guard, had been authorized and scheduled to be held at Nevada, Mo., during the month of October, but authority to hold the encampment was recalled at the last moment, owing to the spread of influenza among the troops.

Pursuant to telegraphic instructions from the War Department, the department commander under date of January 15, 1919, detailed Col. F. V. S. Chamberlain, Infantry, United States Army, to make a special investigation in the matter of accountability of property of the Third Minnesota Infantry, National Guard, covering the period from July 1 to September 30, 1917, with instructions to submit his report and recommendations to the Chief of the Militia Bureau. The report, upon completion of the investigation, was submitted by Col. Chamberlain under date of March 25, 1919, and on that date forwarded to the Chief of the Military Bureau through these headquarters.

EXTRACT FROM REPORT OF OPERATIONS, NATIONAL GUARD, SOUTHERN DEPARTMENT.

The period covered by the annual report for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1919, presented nearly all of the activities and problems which might enter into the scope of duties devolving upon the office of militia affairs of a territorial department.

Enumerated, some of the most prominent of these activities are as follows:

Examinations (professional) of State staff corps and departments; organization of new units; inspection of new units for Federal recognition; camps of instruction, which, in reality, were Cavalry and medical officers' training schools; tentative mobilization; designation for call into Federal service; annual armory inspections; detail of inspector-instructors and sergeant-instructors.

Since the previous annual report, the State of Texas has had Federally recognized as National Guard six regiments of Cavalry and three regiments of Infantry; the State of Oklahoma, two regiments and four separate companies of Infantry. Arizona and New Mexico have not organized any National Guard since the draft of August 5, 1917.

The officers who have been on duty in this office, covering the period of this report, are as follows:

Maj. J. Watt Page, United States Army, from July 1, 1918, to April 22, 1919; relieved by Col. G. O. Cress, Cavalry, on April 22, 1919.

Col. George O. Cress, Cavalry, from April 22, 1919, to June 30, 1919, detailed pursuant to paragraph 141, Special Orders, 88-O, War Department, 1919; reported April 22, 1919.

First Lieut. Leland S. Carberry, Twentieth Battalion, United States Guards, who was assigned to duty in this office, pursuant to paragraph 17, Special Orders, 181, Headquarters Southern Department, 1918, was relieved pursuant to paragraph 4, Special Orders, 330, Headquarters Southern Department, 1918.

MUSTERING OFFICERS, TEXAS.

Maj. J. Watt Page, National Guard, United States, was detailed as mustering officer, State of Texas, December, 1917, pursuant to paragraph 10, Special Orders, 338, Headquarters Southern Department, 1917, and has continued on that duty to date.

EXAMINATIONS, STATE STAFF CORPS AND DEPARTMENTS.

The following officers were examined and found qualified:

Maj. Samuel H. Harrelson, Quartermaster Corps, National Guard, property and disbursing officer, State of Oklahoma.

Maj. Louis Wilson, judge advocate, National Guard of Texas.

NEW UNITS, OKLAHOMA.

New units in Oklahoma had been organized and were in process of inspection for Federal recognition at date of previous annual report.

The inspection of the new units of the Oklahoma National Guard was commenced on June 19, 1918, and completed on July 31, 1918. The delay in making this inspection was caused by the authorization of an additional regiment of Infantry after the inspectors had been detailed to inspect one regiment.

Reports of the inspection of the Second and Third Oklahoma Infantry were forwarded to the chief, Militia Bureau, August 3, 1918.

Lieut. Col. Clyde J. McConkey, Field Artillery, was directed to inspect the separate battalion of Infantry, as well as the sanitary detachment at Elk City, and the company of Infantry at Clinton to replace the one that was formerly located at Sapulpa. Lieut. Col. McConkey completed the inspection and returned to these headquarters March 21, 1919. The reports of Company D, Third Infantry, were forwarded April 15, 1919. Reports concerning First Separate Battalion, Infantry, forwarded April 15, 1919. Reports concerning Sanitary Detachment, Third Infantry, forwarded April 15, 1919.

NEW UNITS, INSPECTIONS, TEXAS.

Pursuant to authority contained in a letter from the Chief, Militia Bureau, dated June 28, 1918, the following officers were detailed to make inspection of the two Cavalry brigades, with a view of extending Federal recognition to these new units. In order to facilitate and hurry the inspection as much as possible, six Regular Army officers were selected, each being given a complete regiment, as far as practicable. The following is a list of the inspectors and orders detailing them:

Maj. Ephraim F. Graham, Three hundred and ninth Cavalry (par. 13, S. O. 185, July 6, 1918).

Lieut. Col. Fitzhugh Lee, Cavalry, National Army (par. 19, S. O. 185, July 6, 1918).

Lieut. Col. William P. Moffet, Sixteenth Cavalry (par. 4, S. O. 186, July 7, 1918).

Owing to change of home stations, due to the fact that certain organizations could not be recruited to minimum strength at their original designations, paragraph 4, Special Orders 186, Headquarters Southern Department, 1918, was amended by paragraph 44, Special Orders 189, July 10, 1918, authorizing the inspector to visit such places as the change of designations necessitated.

Col. R. R. Wallach, Cavalry, United States Army (par. 32, S. O. 189, July 10, 1918).

Lieut. Col. W. D. Forsyth, Three hundred and fourteenth Cavalry (par. 31, S. O. 189, July 10, 1918).

Maj. Arthur H. Wilson, Cavalry, United States Army (par. 19, S. O. 190, July 11, 1918).

Inspection of the Sixth Regiment of Cavalry, National Guard of Texas, was commenced on July 6, 1918, and completed July 25, 1918. Reports of the Sixth Cavalry were forwarded July 27, 1918, to the Chief, Militia Bureau; of the Second Cavalry on the 31st of July; of the Seventh Cavalry on August 4; of the Third Cavalry on August 4, 1918; and of the headquarters, First and Second Cavalry Brigades, on July 31, 1918. Reports of the Fourth Cavalry, less Troop F, and of the Fifth Cavalry, less Machine Gun, Supply Troops, and Troop E, were forwarded August 7, 1918. Reports of the Machine Gun, Supply Troops, and Troop E of the Fifth Cavalry, forwarded August 10, 1918. Relative to the designation of the Cavalry regiments from 1 to 6, indorsement from the Chief, Militia Bureau, dated July 31, 1918, called attention to the fact that the records of the First Texas Cavalry were already contained in the files of the Militia Bureau in Washington, and that it was recommended that the regiment now being organized be redesignated as the Seventh, leaving the other members undisturbed. This was taken up with the adjutant general of the State, who issued orders under date of August 5, 1918, changing the designation of the First Texas Cavalry to the Seventh. Chief of Militia Bureau was notified by telegram (these headquarters) dated August 5, 1918.

Letter of August 22, 1918, from the Acting Chief of Militia Bureau, authorized the detail of Regular Army officers to inspect the three new Infantry regiments with a view of extending Federal recognition. The following is a list of the inspectors and orders detailing them:

Maj. Verne R. Bell, Seventh Cavalry (par. 42, S. O. 251, H. S. D., 1918).

Maj. Robert M. Cheney, Fifth Cavalry (par. 1, S. O. 252, H. S. D., 1918).

Maj. Edward G. Elliott, Fifth Cavalry (par. 2, S. O. 252, H. S. D., 1918).

Inspection of these units was commenced on September 13, 1918, and completed September 29, 1918, and the reports were forwarded to the Chief, Militia Bureau, as follows: Eighth Infantry, October 7, 1918; Ninth Infantry, October 2, 1918; and the Tenth Infantry on October 2, 1918.

FEDERAL RECOGNITION, OFFICERS, STATE STAFF CORPS AND DEPARTMENTS, TEXAS.

Letter dated July 13, 1918, extended Federal recognition to Maj. Walter F. Woodul, Adjutant General's Department, Texas National Guard, to date from October 16, 1917, he having qualified therefor by passing the prescribed examination in June, 1918. A letter from Acting Chief, Militia Bureau, dated October 26, 1918, extended Federal recognition to Maj. Louis Wilson, Judge Advocate General's Department, as of date October 1, 1918, he having qualified therefor by passing the prescribed examination. These examinations were held by a board of officers appointed by the department commander and reported on in the previous annual report.

A letter from the Acting Chief, Militia Bureau, dated October 9, 1918, extended Federal recognition to Capt. Joseph De Synek, Quartermaster Corps, as of date October 21, 1918; this officer was recognized, subject to future examination. On March 13, 1919, a letter from the Chief, Militia Bureau, extended Federal recognition to Capt. De Synek as a major, Ordnance Department, National Guard of Texas, subject to future examination. On April 24, 1919, Maj. De Synek was recognized as a lieutenant colonel, Quartermaster Corps, National Guard of Texas, subject to future examination, by a letter from the Chief, Militia Bureau.

Letters from the Chief, Militia Bureau, both dated April 24, 1919, extended Federal recognition to the following officers, subject to the prescribed examination:

Maj. John W. Young to be lieutenant colonel, Inspector General's Department.

Capt. Homer W. Griffiths to be lieutenant colonel, Quartermaster Corps and property and disbursing officer for the United States in the State of Texas.

FEDERAL RECOGNITION OF STATE ADJUTANTS GENERAL, TEXAS.

A letter from the Acting Chief of Militia Bureau, dated December 28, 1918, advised that in compliance with instructions from the Secretary of War, under date of December 23, 1918, steps were being taken to recognize the State adjutants general as National Guard officers, and that Bulletin 47, War Department, August 14, 1918, had been amended to permit State adjutants general to wear the uniform prescribed for National Guard not in Federal service.

These instructions were amplified by Circular Letter No. 16, Militia Bureau, 1919, so that distinction was made between the civil duties and military duties of adjutants general and providing for their transfer to the National Guard Reserve in The Adjutant General's Department whenever their tenure of civil office of adjutant general should be terminated. This would seem to be a most excellent procedure, as it will save, for use in case of emergency, many officers well adapted to the performance of duties in The Adjutant General's Department whenever it becomes necessary to organize large bodies of troops.

FEDERAL RECOGNITION, NEW UNITS, OKLAHOMA.

A letter of September 16, 1918, from the Acting Chief, Militia Bureau, extending Federal recognition to the Second Regiment of Oklahoma Infantry, including sanitary detachment, excepting in the case of those officers who were disqualified as a result of failure to meet the age for grade requirements of Circular No. 13, Militia Bureau, 1916. Federal recognition dated from August 31, 1918.

A letter of September 17, 1918, from the Acting Chief, Militia Bureau, extended Federal recognition to the Third Regiment, Oklahoma Infantry, subject to the prompt organization, inspection, and recognition of the sanitary detachment in accordance with Circular No. 31, Militia Bureau, 1918. Attention was invited to the fact that this regiment could not be considered for camp or other service as a regiment until the organization of the sanitary detachment had been completed and the unit recognized by the War Department. Federal recognition was extended to the officers of this regiment (excepting sanitary detachment) who were within the age limits or for whom waivers had been granted.

Letter from the Chief, Militia Bureau, dated May 15, 1919, extended Federal recognition to the sanitary detachment, Third Regiment, Oklahoma Infantry, National Guard, to date from February 25, 1919.

Also advised that the recognition of the above sanitary detachment completed the organization of the Third Regiment, Oklahoma Infantry, National Guard.

Letter from the Chief, Militia Bureau, dated June 26, 1919, extended Federal recognition to the following organizations of the First Separate Battalion as of date June 18, 1919: Companies A, B, C, D, also to Company E (designation wrong, as this company was organized to replace Company M, Second Oklahoma Infantry, National Guard, which had been authorized to disband). The letter designation of the above companies was changed by same letter from the Chief, Militia Bureau.

Company C, First Separate Battalion, to Company L, Third Regiment Oklahoma Infantry, National Guard.

Company A, First Separate Battalion, to Company D, Third Regiment Oklahoma Infantry, National Guard.

Company E to Company M, Second Regiment Oklahoma Infantry, National Guard.

Letter, dated August 21, 1918, extended Federal recognition to the Headquarters, First Cavalry Brigade, Texas National Guard, to date from August 23, 1918.

A letter from Acting Chief, Militia Bureau, dated October 10, 1918, extended Federal recognition to the Ninth and Tenth Infantry, and to the officers of these regiments (who were within the age limit or for whom waivers were granted), subject to future examinations to determine their fitness for their present commissions.

A letter from Acting Chief, Militia Bureau, dated October 16, 1918, extended Federal recognition to the Eighth Infantry and to the officers of this regiment (who were within the age limit or for whom waivers were granted), subject to future examinations to determine their fitness for their present commissions.

In order to properly train the officers of the Cavalry regiments of the National Guard of Texas, which were to be called into the Federal service for border duty, the department commander recommended to the Chief, Militia Bureau, that a camp of instruction, covering a three months' period, be held for the officers and selected noncommissioned officers and enlisted men of these organizations. A telegram from The Adjutant General of the Army, dated September 20, 1918, authorized the holding of this school of instruction for the Texas Cavalry, and the place designated was Camp Stanley. The same telegram authorized the sending of selected enlisted men to Cooks' and Bakers' Schools and to Horseshoers' and Farriers' Schools at Fort Bliss, Tex.; Camp Bowie, Camp Travis, and Camp Logan, Tex.

A telegram from Acting Chief, Militia Bureau, dated September 25, 1918, advised that arrangements to send medical officers of the National Guard of Texas, and not to exceed nine dental surgeons, four noncommissioned officers, and three privates from each sanitary detachment assigned to Cavalry regiments to the Medical Officers' Training Camp, Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., and requested by wire names of medical officers and dental surgeons who desired to attend this camp, so that it could be determined whether or not Federal recognition had been extended to them by Militia Bureau. This information was furnished in telegram from these headquarters, dated October 3, 1918. Authority to send medical officers and dental surgeons, submitted in above telegram, was granted in telegram of October 5, 1918, from Chief, Militia Bureau.

From time to time lists of officers and men found qualified to continue the course at various training camps and lists of those who were discharged for various reasons were furnished the Militia Bureau. All camps of instruction closed December 8, 1918, in accordance with telegraphic instructions from the Chief, Militia Bureau, dated November 27, 1918, and a full and complete report was furnished, at the termination of the various camps of instruction, to the Chief, Militia Bureau.

These camps of instruction and specialists schools were a gratifying success in every way and great credit is due to all of the officers, who were detailed as instructors, for their untiring efforts to this end. The plans for these camps and specialists schools were conceived by Col. William T. Johnston, Chief of Staff of the Southern Department. Especial credit should be given to Cols. Fitzhugh Lee and Ben Lear, jr., for the manner in which they (each at different times, as commanding officer) made the plans so successful as to the results obtained. Much excellent officer and non-commissioned officer material was graduated at these camps of instruction.

A letter from The Adjutant General of the Army, dated November 21, 1918, advised that owing to the signing of the armistice, the six regiments of Cavalry, National Guard of Texas, which were to be called into service of the United States January 2, 1919, would not now be called. The officers and enlisted men of these regiments then in training camps were to be permitted to complete the course, which was to close December 8, 1918. At that time the officers of these Cavalry regiments were attending the Cavalry Central Officers' Training Schools, Camp Stanley, Tex., and of the officers and men of the sanitary detachments, those belonging to the medical corps were attending school at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., those of the dental corps were attending the school at Camp Stanley, Tex. All of these officers and men elected to complete the course and they therefore remained at these various schools until the close of same, December 8, 1918.

ANNUAL ARMORY INSPECTION.

Pursuant to an indorsement from the War Department, dated December 14, 1918, the commanding general was directed, in accordance with the recommendations of the Inspector General of the Army, to provide for the annual armory inspection of all National Guard units in the department which had, previous to March 31, 1919, been Federally recognized. A telegram, dated December 24, 1918, from The Adjutant General of the Army, in reply to telegram from these headquarters, authorized the detail of four special inspectors and ordered the necessary travel to make the annual armory inspections for the National Guard of Texas and Oklahoma, there being no units of the National Guard in the States of Arizona and New Mexico.

In order to facilitate the inspection of the two Cavalry brigades and the Infantry brigade of Texas, the State was divided into three sections. Lieut. Col. P. R. Davison, Cavalry, was allotted the northern part of the State and detailed pursuant to paragraph 14, Special Order 354, Headquarters Southern Department, 1918. Lieut. Col. S. B. Arnold, Eighth Cavalry, was allotted the central section and detailed pursuant to paragraph 11, Special Order, 8, Headquarters Southern Department, 1919.

Maj. Edgar L. Field, Infantry, was allotted the southern section of the State and detailed pursuant to paragraph 16, Special Order 29, Headquarters Southern Department, 1919. On account of the late arrival of Maj. Field, the department commander, in order to expedite the inspection, detailed Maj. J. Watt Page, United States Army, officer in charge of militia affairs, to assist, and pursuant to paragraph 13, Special Order 20, Headquarters Southern Department, 1919, Maj. Page was directed to visit and inspect the organizations of the National Guard of Texas at McAllen, Brownsville, and Harlingen, Tex. To avoid unnecessary travel, Maj. Paul X. English, inspector, El Paso district, was directed by letter from these headquarters, dated January 28, 1919, to inspect the one troop of Cavalry and the one company of Infantry stationed at El Paso, Tex.

Lieut. Col. S. B. Arnold, Cavalry, and Lieut. Col. P. R. Davison, Cavalry, were relieved from inspection duty before the completion of their inspections.

Maj. A. W. Roffe, Seventh Cavalry, and Lieut. Col. Hamilton Bowie, Thirteenth Cavalry, were detailed as special inspectors and completed the inspections begun by Col. Arnold and Lieut. Col. Davison.

Col. Chase Doster, Infantry, was detailed to make the annual armory inspection of the units of the National Guard of Oklahoma, pursuant to paragraph 8, Special Order 16, Headquarters Southern Department, 1919.

These inspections were completed by March 31, 1919, and the last reports were mailed the Chief, Militia Bureau, April 26, 1919.

Reference to the report shows the guard of Texas as mainly a paper strength; that only 9 units out of 141 are holding any kind of drills. Oklahoma Guard, 28 units out of 31 are holding drills more or less regularly. On June 30 no reports of drill attendance have been received from any Texas National Guard organization; none from the Second Regiment Infantry, Oklahoma National Guard; and none from the Third Regiment prior to April, 1919. Very few men are joining the guard. There is some feeling on the part of the old National Guardsmen against the National Guard organized during the emergency. It is the opinion of this office that very little progress will be made until this feeling disappears and the active cooperation of the returning old National Guard is secured.

Very careful attention has been given by this office toward securing proper and uniform methods in the transaction of official business. Model forms have been sent out whenever it was thought they could be used by the inspector-instructor or by the State authorities. The issuing of orders and the general administrative conduct of the National Guard affairs in the office of the adjutant general, State of Texas, have not been satisfactory. With a view to remedying this difficulty, all orders issued from that office are edited and memorandum returned respectfully calling attention to irregularities and discrepancies. Up to date the improvement is not especially gratifying, and almost daily orders are received which indicate that the adjutant general's office is not familiar with the regulations governing the National Guard. There appears to be no coordination with the officers of the Adjutant General's Department and the United States property and disbursing officer, the latter officer forwarding uniforms and equipment to organizations that have been disbanded or moved to other stations, his reason being that information relative to the changes has not been furnished him by the adjutant general's office. He has also shipped property in violation of the provisions of Memorandum No. 49, National Guard of Texas, referred to above. One instance is reported where without proper authority he shipped property to the station of an organization; the property was returned to storehouse at State headquarters and again reshipped without proper authority. There has been apparent an unnecessary waste of Government funds in the shipment and handling of Federal property in the hands of State authorities.

The large majority of officers in the Texas Guard appear not to be alive to the obligations they accepted when volunteering in the State organizations. Very few are making efforts sufficient to get results. In Oklahoma the conditions are much better, and it would appear that the obstacles to be overcome in that State are not materially different from those existing in Texas.

The Regular Army officers detailed and assigned to duty as inspector-instructors in Oklahoma and Texas have been greatly interested and have more than complied with the requirements of the regulations and instructions governing them. They appear all to be excellent officers and they have entered most heartily in the spirit of earnest endeavor to make the regiment with which they are serving a dependable organization. That they have not done so is no reflection upon these officers.

G. O. CRESS,
Colonel, Cavalry, United States Army,
In Charge of Militia Affairs.
