Senate Provisions of Interest

Sec. 103. Permits the use of funds for defense access roads.

Sec. 124. Provides additional funds for unfunded military construction priorities.

Sec. 129. Provides additional funding for design and authorized major construction projects at foreign military training sites.

Senate Report Language of Interest

Lodging Facilities. The Committee continues to highlight lodging shortfalls near ARNG training centers that support training and readiness activities as well as support training for outside agencies. The Committee encourages the ARNG to allocate appropriate funding towards lodging requirements in future budget requests.

Facility Sustainment, Restoration, and Modernization [FSRM]. The Department of Defense (DoD) is directed to continue describing on form 1390 the backlog of FSRM requirements at installations with future construction projects. For troop housing requests, form 1391 should describe any FSRM conducted in the past 2 years. Likewise, future requirements for unaccompanied housing at the corresponding installation should be included. Additionally, the forms should include English equivalent measurements for projects presented in metric measurement. Rules for funding repairs of facilities under the Operation and Maintenance accounts are described below:

- (1) components of the facility may be repaired by replacement. Such replacement can be up to current standards or codes;
- (2) interior arrangements and restorations may be included as repair;
- (3) additions and new facilities may be done concurrently with repair projects, as long as the final conjunctively funded project is a complete and usable facility; and
- (4) the appropriate Service Secretary shall notify the appropriate committees prior to carrying out any repair project with an estimated cost in excess of $7,500,000.

Design Funding. To more appropriately reflect DoD activities being appropriated, the Committee will now refer to "design" funding instead of "planning and design".

Military Installation Resilience. Since fiscal year 2020, the Committee has provided dedicated design and unspecified minor construction funding to support military installation resilience. The Committee encourages the services to continue to develop their Installation Climate Resilience Plans and to utilize these documents and identify associated infrastructure requirements that can be addressed through this funding. The Committee believes that such investments are critical to installation readiness and therefore provides $30M to continue to develop and execute projects that will directly enhance military installation resilience.

Child Development Centers [CDCs]. The Committee continues to recognize the importance of access to childcare in improving both readiness and quality of life for servicemembers and their families. To help address the capacity shortfall and construct modern facilities, in addition to providing $133M for the CDC projects included in the President's request, the bill provides an additional $31.6M in design and major construction funding for three additional projects.

Military Construction Funding Initiatives. The bill includes $549.4M in Section 124 to address important unfunded priorities and cost to completes included in DoD's unfunded priority lists provided to Congress.

Congressionally Directed Spending. The Committee includes Congressionally Directed Spending for design, unspecified minor construction, and major construction in accordance with Senate Rule XLIV. DoD is directed to carry out funding for projects as identified in tables under each relevant account header.
